REPLY TO OMNIBUS OBJECTION OF UNITED STATES TRUSTEE
REGARDING FEE APPLICATIONS FOR FIRST INTERIM
COMPENSATION AND REIMBURSEMENT OF EXPENSES

Reed Smith LLP (“Reed Smith”) respectfully replies to the Omnibus Objection of the United States Trustee Regarding Fee Applications for First Interim Compensation and Reimbursement of Expenses (the “UST Objection”) [Doc. No. 2361].

INTRODUCTION

On May 14, 2012 (the “Petition Date”), Residential Capital, LLC (“ResCap”) and certain of its subsidiaries (collectively, the “Debtors”) filed petitions for relief under Chapter 11 of the Bankruptcy Code. [Doc. No. 1]. The Debtors continue to operate their businesses as debtors-in-possession pursuant to sections 1107 and 1108 of the Bankruptcy Code. 11 U.S.C. §§ 1107-1108.

On July 17, 2012, the Court authorized procedures for the Debtors' employment of professionals retained in the ordinary course (the "OCP Order") [Doc. No. 799]. The OCP Order provides, among other things, that Ordinary Course Professionals who have filed appropriate OCP Affidavits must file an interim fee application for any month during which the Ordinary Course Professional's fees exceed $50,000. The OCP Order further authorizes the Debtors to pay the first $50,000 of an Ordinary Court Professional's fees incurred in any given month without Court approval while a fee application is pending.

Reed Smith represents the Debtors in the defense of several state and federal court matters. In accordance with the OCP Order, Reed Smith filed an Affidavit of Disinterestedness on August 1, 2012. [Doc. No. 958]. During July 2012, Reed Smith incurred fees totaling $89,686 for time spent by fourteen timekeepers working on nine different matters for the Debtors. Reed Smith's blended hourly rate for July 2012 was $333.16. Pursuant to the OCP Order, Reed Smith filed an interim fee application on October 19, 2012 to recover that portion of its July 2012 fees that exceeded the $50,000 limit (the "Reed Smith July 2012 Fee Application"). [Doc. No. 1892].

During August 2012, Reed Smith incurred fees totaling $77,538.50 and expenses in the amount of $81.22 for time spent by twelve timekeepers on and expenses incurred in connection with eight different matters. Reed Smith's blended hourly rate for August 2012 was $346.46. Pursuant to the OCP Order, Reed Smith filed an interim fee application on October 19, 2012 to recover that portion of its August 2012 fees and expenses that exceeded the $50,000 limit (the "Reed Smith August 2012 Fee Application"). [Doc. No. 1895].

The United States Trustee (the "UST") objects to certain of Reed Smith's fees on grounds of that they were incurred by "transitory" time keepers, are duplicative and/or are vague.

Importantly, neither the debtor nor the creditors committee has objected to the fees sought by Reed Smith.<sup>1</sup>

I. The Fees Sought By Reed Smith For The Work Of J. McIntyre, K. Gwynne And D. Bird Is Compensable

The UST seeks to reduce Reed Smith's fees by $3,346 for time billed by allegedly "transitory" timekeepers. In essence, the UST argues that the sheer fact that three Reed Smith timekeepers—J. McIntyre, K. Gwynne and D. Bird—billed less than five hours per month on matters involving the Debtors indicates that these timekeepers did not provide a benefit to the estate. In support of this argument, the UST relies on In re Jefsaba, 172 B.R. 786, 806 (Bankr. E.D. Pa. 1994) as supporting the proposition that "a[n] estate bears the cost of a professional's learning curve, unless the applicant explains the value conferred by transitory timekeepers, their fees should be disallowed." UST Objection, p. 17. In re Jefsaba does not support the contention that the number of hours spent on a matter by a timekeeper is an indicia of the benefit conferred on the bankruptcy estate by that timekeeper. Rather, the decision explains that the bankruptcy estate should not bear the "learning curve" costs associated with repeatedly changing the staffing of a matter. In re Jefsaba, 172 B.R. at 801.<sup>2</sup>

In fact, the principles set forth in In re Jefsaba provide support for Reed Smith's recovery of the fees billed by Messrs. McIntyre, Gwynne and Bird. In her decision, Judge Sigmond explains that timekeepers must be prudent in the number of hours spent on a matter because <sup>1</sup> The UST Objection states that Reed Smith seeks allowance of fees totaling $67,224.50. That total represents the amount by which Reed Smith's July and August 2012 fees exceed the monthly $50,000 limit. Pursuant to the OCP Order, the Debtors have authority to pay $50,000 per month without court approval and while any fee application remains pending. As explained more fully in Reed Smith's Interim Fee Applications, Reed Smith seeks total payment of $167,224.50, which represents the authorized $50,000 per month plus the overages for July and August 2012. To the extent the Debtors have not yet disbursed the authorized funds for July and August 2012, Reed Smith also seeks payment of those fees.

<sup>2</sup> To the extent In re Jefsaba can be read in the way the United States Trustee alleges, which Reed Smith denies, any principles espoused regarding the transitory nature of bankruptcy counsel's time should not be extended to ordinary course counsel who may be representing the debtor in ongoing litigation that is not particularly active in any given month.

“excessive or unnecessary time is not compensable.” In re Jefsaba, 172 B.R. at 786 (citing 11 U.S.C. § 330(a)). Moreover, while the bankruptcy court frowns upon multiple attorneys working on the same tasks, Judge Sigmond explained that the court has “no particular objection to one professional performing the work and a second professional reviewing the work product and offering comments and suggestions, especially where that second person brings a different expertise to the matter. Such an exchange of experience and knowledge between professionals within the same firm or company makes best use of each professional’s abilities and is one of the benefits of multi-person firms.” Id. at 800.

As is evident by the invoices attached to Reed Smith’s interim fee applications, Reed Smith defends the debtors in several lawsuits involving the same borrower. The UST objects to 2.1 hours spent by Mr. Gwynne on the Taggart Foreclosure matter pending in Pennsylvania’s Montgomery County Court of Common Pleas. See Exhibit 1 (Taggart Foreclosure July 2012 invoice).<sup>3</sup> As is clear from the invoices, Mr. Gwynne’s involvement with the Taggart Foreclosure matter was limited to two hours on a single day in July 2012. Mr. Gwynne is a bankruptcy practitioner with prior experience representing GMAC in consumer bankruptcy litigation relating to foreclosures. Because of his experience and expertise, and rather than having someone more regularly involved in the mater research the issues, GMAC’s in-house counsel requested that Mr. Gwynne review the file and participate in a phone call with GMAC’s lead bankruptcy counsel, who was unfamiliar with the legal issues involved in the matter under Pennsylvania law. Accordingly, despite the short period of time spent on this matter, Mr. Gwynne’s involvement resulted in the “best use of each professional’s abilities” and, ultimately, saved the estate the time and resources that would have been expended had he not consulted on the matter. In re Jefsaba, 172 B.R. at 801.

The UST also objects to the time of Mr. Bird and Mr. McIntyre spent on the Moffitt Class Action matter. During July and August, Reed Smith attorneys only billed 3.7 hours on that file. Mr. Bird billed 0.7 hours on July 13 and Mr. McIntyre billed a total of 2.2 hours in August. See Exhibit 2 (July and August 2012 invoices for Moffit Class Action matter). On July 13, Mr. Bird briefly reviewed the Ninth Circuit's decision in Gale v. First Franklin Loan Services, No. 09-1649 (decided July 12, 2012) to determine whether the decision, which concerned the construction of the same federal statute at issue in the Fourth Circuit litigation involving Debtor Ally Bank, could have any impact on the pending appeals in the Fourth Circuit and whether the Ninth Circuit's decision should be submitted to the Fourth Circuit as a supplemental authority. After deciding not to submit the new authority to the Fourth Circuit, the Fourth Circuit rendered its decision on the pending appeal in August. Thereafter, Mr. McIntyre reviewed the Fourth Circuit's decision both to ensure that the court had properly dismissed certain appeals and stayed others asserting claims against Debtor Ally Bank and also to ensure that the Court's reasoning would withstand a rehearing petition, which was ultimately filed by the plaintiffs and denied. Mr. McIntyre also evaluated whether the Fourth Circuit's unpublished decision should be published and thus be given a precedential effect that could benefit Ally in other litigation. That the Moffitt Class Action matter was not as active in July and August 2012 as were some of the other matters does not detract from the benefit received by the Debtors' estate from the time spent on that matter. Furthermore, Reed Smith should not be penalized for not billing for efficiently performing the necessary work. In re Jefsaba, 172 B.R. at 786.

Accordingly, the UST's objection to the $3,346 in fees billed by Mr. Gwynne, Mr. Bird and Mr. McIntyre during July and August 2012 should be overruled.

II. The Fees Sought By Reed Smith For Time Billed By M. Guerin Is Compensable

The UST also objects to 7.3 hours of time billed by M. Guerin on August 2, 2012 as being duplicative. As the invoices attached to the UST Objection as Exhibit E illustrate, Ms. Guerin has worked on the litigation of several different matters for Debtor GMAC, including the matters described on the invoices as the Taggart 14th Amendment litigation, the Taggart RICO litigation, the Taggart Due Process litigation and the Taggart Foreclosure litigation. See UST Objection, Ex. E (excerpts of pertinent invoices), which involve the same borrower and certain overlapping issues. Specifically, the Taggart Foreclosure matter involves thirty-two counterclaims, some allegations of which are pursued or raised in the Taggart 14th Amendment and Taggart Due Process litigations. Essentially, the borrower claims that he did not default but that GMAC's reporting of his mortgage loan as being in default resulted in the loss of this FHA appraisal license, thus depriving him of past and future income and profits. In the Taggart Due Process action, Mr. Taggart seeks relief based on numerous claims, including claims sounding in due process and unfair trade practices, seeking declaratory judgment and damages against GMAC and the governmental entities. In the Taggart 14th Amendment litigation, he seeks relief as against the state county and appellate courts, and GMAC and MERS as "third party defendants" alleging constitutional violations by refusing to grant certain relief as to the foreclosure action. In the Taggart RICO litigation, he sues GMAC, MERS and numerous individuals, including employees of and counsel for GMAC, relating to some or all of the foregoing. During the pendency of all of the foregoing cases, GMAC's bankruptcy petition was filed.

On August 2, 2012, Mr. Guerin spent a total of 7.3 hours working on the several related cases. She spent that time conferring both internally with colleagues and externally with the client and bankruptcy counsel regarding case issues and strategy in each of the four matters on which she was working. Due to the overlapping issues affecting the matters, and the necessity of addressing the numerous cases individually and as a whole with several parties, the breakdown of the hours spent as to each case represents the best possible breakdown of the specific time spent as to each matter. Accordingly, Ms. Guerin spent 2.0 hours on August 2, 2012 conferring both internally and externally with Debtors' bankruptcy counsel regarding the Taggart RICO matter and the impact of the bankruptcy proceedings on that action. She also spent an hour on document and file management on the Taggart 14th Amendment litigation and conferring internally regarding the same. Ms. Guerin spent an additional hour discussing the Taggart Due Process matter internally and potential conflicts of interest involved in certain attorneys representing GMAC in this litigation. Finally, Ms. Guerin spent 3.3 hours conferring both internally and with Debtors' bankruptcy counsel regarding foreclosure case history and strategy in light of pending motions for relief from the automatic stay and preparing for a hearing in the bankruptcy court.

With consideration of this elaboration and the supplemental Declaration of Maria T. Guerin, the UST's objection to Ms. Guerin's time should be overruled.

III. The Fees Sought By Reed Smith For Time Billed By I. Lefton Is Compensable

Finally, the UST objects to 9.4 hours of time spent by Mr. Lefton on the Dalton matter in August 2012 for vagueness. See Exhibit 3 (August 2012 invoice for Dalton matter). The Dalton matter is a multi-district litigation involving numerous claims asserted by several plaintiffs against multiple defendants. In July 2012, certain of the claims were pending in the District of Nevada and certain other claims were pending in two separate Ninth Circuit appeals (case numbers 11-17645 and 11-17663). During this time, briefing was occurring in all three cases, and Mr. Lefton reviewed the briefs of other parties as they were filed. See Exhibit 4 (Ninth Circuit docket excerpts from 06/01/12 through 08/31/12 in 11-17663 and 11-17645 cases).

With consideration of the foregoing and the supplemental Declaration of Ira S. Lefton more fully explaining his time entries, the UST's objection to Mr. Lefton's time should be overruled.

CONCLUSION

For the foregoing reasons, Reed Smith requests that the Court award interim fees and expenses in the amount total amount of $167,224.50 in fees and $81.22 in expenses.
